Basic Needs/Direct Service Conversation Guide For Applicants

During our conversation, we will want to get to know more about your organization and the basic needs/direct service request for which you seek funding. You do not need to prepare anything in writing before the conversation, but here is a list of things we will talk about:

Your mission and services that you provide.

The basic needs/direct service project for which you need funding.

Who you will assist and what you will provide.

Where the project will place.

Collaborative partners with whom you work.

Ways in which you connect with other groups providing similar services.

Outcomes that you seek, short-term and long-term.

Number of people you expect to serve.

The overall cost of delivering the services.

The ways in which you have secured funding for the project previously and your future plans.

How much funding you seek from the Sisters Health Foundation.
